A very big deal is happening and I am writing you in hopes you and your students will be able to get something out of it. The Great Books Curriculum is presenting its first annual symposium in conjunction with P.T.K.. The panel will address our spring theme "The Pursuit of Happiness." What is exciting about this is that it is an all student panel who will have been prepared by Maria Jaskot Inclan, who has worked unbelievably hard on this. Her efforts have also been joined by those of Perry, Elayne, Sue, and Al Casal, who have either lined up students or worked with them or both. The whole thing is the idea of Don Barshis, who with his doctorate in education is adamant that such an event can really help to build a program like Great Books while contributing in an important way to intellectual community in the school.

In other words, it would be a great thing for your students and you were you to bring a class or interested students or just yourself to the event which will take place at 12:15 in the Events Theater. I have enclosed a flyer with all of the info.

Please join us.

All best,

Bruce
